Record shows that respondents submitted reply that the petitioner instituted the instant complaint merely with the intention to harass and cause unnecessary inconvenience to the respondents. It is further stated that the said passage has been opened and accessible from the very beginning and has never been blocked or closed. However, the petitioners had constructed a wall and thereby blocked the respondents' access passage for their vehicle. Arguments heard and record perused. The petitioner has categorically expressed his intention not to proceed further with the instant litigation and has sought withdrawal of the complaint for the reason that the passage/pathway is no more blocked.
